European and Mediterranean League against Thrombotic Diseases

GREETINGS OF THE PRESIDENT

Dear members of EMLTD

It's a great honor for me to take the leadership of EMLTD succeeding Prof Alexandros Tselepis. Within the last 4 years Professor Tselepis carried out a great responsibility crossing the pandemia and working in order to safe EMLTD during these so disturbed times.

I will do my best to continue at the forefront of this prestigious league, keeping the tradition but allied with some modernity.

According to bylaws two names were replaced in the Executive Board. Teresa Santos from Spain and David Varon from Israel both had to leave the board. Many thanks for all they have done for the League and I wish them all the best.

For their places two new colleagues are coming into the Executive Board.

Ana Bronic from Croacia and Mojca Mijovski from Eslovenia.

FEW IDEAS TO BE IMPLEMENTED

EMLTD has a long story of prestige. New societies are coming and new players are involved in the field of thrombosis. Despite that EMLTD remains an important community as the very recent congress ICT 2023 juts proved.

What can we expect for the near future?

- ⦿ An increment in the visibility of EMLTD is absolutely needed.
- ⦿ EMLTD needs to occupy its position in the world of thrombosis.
- ⦿ Potential sponsors should be attracted by looking at EMLTD as a partner where there are advantages to investing.
- ⦿ The mission of EMLTD is to expand the knowledge and to implement good medical practice inside the constituent countries, with a special focus to the countries with a lower income.
- ⦿ EMLTD should grow up.

Beyond the Executive Board EMLTD has two important constitutional bodies crucial to develop scientific initiatives and to support the Executive Board activity: Educational Committee and Country Councilors, both should be reactivated within the near future. We need their input and we need their role in to spread our messages.

A new task force should be created as soon as possible. The young community deserves a special attention. It is difficult to implement new projects without the contribution of our fellows. As soon as possible we need to organize them inside the League. It is my own task to organize a group of young colleagues which will be responsible by the social media, attracting new members showing which they should adhere to EMLTD.

29th INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON THROMBOSIS (ICT 2025)

An important decision was taken in Lisbon regarding the next congress of EMLTD.

"I'm very pleased and happy announcing Professor Ismael Elalamy as the chairman of the next congress who will be held in Marrakech, thus preserving the spirit of the league."

Professor Ismaïl Elalamy, M.D. PhD., is a Professor of Haematology and Head of the Haematology Department at Tenon University Hospital, Médecine Sorbonne Université Paris, Prof Elalamy has been involved in the field of thrombosis and antithrombotic therapies since 1991, and his research interests include improving therapeutic strategies, identifying new biomarkers and the application of novel diagnostic techniques to the clinic.
